67th AQEIC Congress

The Value of Leather:

innovation and new opportunities for the industry

In an increasingly competitive economic environment, science and technology have become essential tools for strengthening the value chain and addressing major global challenges. Stringent environmental commitments and the growing scarcity of fossil-based raw materials make investment in education, innovation, and knowledge sharing more important than ever.

With more than 76 years of service and experience supporting the industry, AQEIC reaffirms its commitment to the sectors connected by a common element—leather, a noble material with unique properties and a renewable resource of exceptional value—through the organization of its 67th Congress.

We gratefully acknowledge the support of leather and footwear industry institutions, educational organizations, and corporate partners whose collaboration makes this technical and scientific event possible.

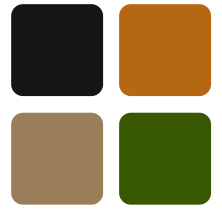

We cordially invite you to participate in the 67th AQEIC Congress, organized in collaboration with INESCOP, either as an AQEIC member or as a representative of the various stakeholders across the value chain.

The Spanish Chemical Association of the Leather Industry (AQEIC) is organizing the 67th AQEIC Technical Congress, which will be held on 23 and 24 October 2026 at the facilities of Inescop (Footwear Technology Center), in Elda (Alicante).

Under the title "The value of leather: innovation and new opportunities for the industry", the congress will be a meeting point for professionals, companies and researchers in the sector, where they can share knowledge, experiences and the latest technological developments related to leather and its application in the footwear industry.

Over two days, key topics will be addressed, such as new leather treatment technologies, the recovery of by-products and waste from the industry, as well as the main challenges and opportunities facing the sector. In addition, the congress aims to bring the chemical industry closer to the leather industry.
